ABOUT US

Wordsworth Editions was established in 1987, but it was the launch in 1992 of the £1 Classic paperback, the brainchild of the late Michael Trayler, that put us in the spotlight. This was back in the days before book prices could be discounted so the fact that we could offer titles at a fraction of the cost of existing editions caused something of a sensation, and made them irresistible to lovers of classic literature.

A GENTLE RETELLING OF Hans Christian Andersen's 'The Fir Tree'

Out in the forest stood a pretty little fir tree.

He had a good place, with plenty of sunshine and fresh air. Around him grew many larger trees, pines and firs, but the little tree only wished to be as tall as they were.

"I wish I were big like the others," he said. "Then I could spread out my branches and see the wide world."

The warm sun shone, and the soft wind blew, and the birds sang happily. But the little fir tree did not enjoy it. All he could think about was growing bigger.

In winter, when snow lay white on the ground, hares would sometimes jump over him. This upset him very much.

"Oh! If only I were taller," he sighed. "Then no one could jump over me."

Years passed, and the tree grew taller. Yet he was never content.

Seasonal Crafts

In the days before bright shop windows and ready-made decorations, much of Christmas was made at home. With nimble fingers and simple things to hand, families fashioned their own ornaments and delights, filling their homes with crafts and cheer. Thankfully, it is a pleasure that has never quite been lost, for there is still something special in what is made together.

This hardback edition measures 21cm x 21cm and features foil embossing, gilded page edges and rounded corners. Beautifully illustrated throughout in full colour, the book is finished with a ribbon marker and head-and-tail band.
